

Welcome to Northwestern Medicine Living Well Cancer Resources

Providing compassionate care and hope to families facing cancer

Northwestern Medicine Living Well Cancer Resources is dedicated to providing evidence-based programs and services that encourage, empower and support patients with cancer and their families and caregivers. All of our offerings are provided at no cost because we believe that no one should face cancer alone.

Education

Medical updates and special presentations are provided by Northwestern Medicine medical staff. Learn more about advanced treatments and technology, clinical trials and managing side effects.

- Access reliable information from experts.
- Explore your treatment and after-care options.

Starting points

Learn more about upcoming medical presentations at livingwellcrc.org.

Follow us on Facebook at facebook.com/livingwellcrc.

Fitness and yoga

Designed to support you during and after cancer treatment, Living Well fitness and yoga classes are modified by our expert instructors to meet a variety of needs and encourage healing.

- Boost energy, and increase strength and flexibility.
- Decrease stress and anxiety.
- Reduce the side effects of cancer treatment, including lymphedema and neuropathy.

Starting points

If you have questions about exercise and any limitations related to your cancer diagnosis or treatment, please call Living Well to schedule an exercise consultation.

Nutrition

Learn how to cook and eat healthy meals to reduce cancer-related side effects and live well throughout a cancer journey. Services are provided by Northwestern Medicine registered dietitians.

- Make informed decisions about food and diet plans.
- Form healthy eating habits.

Starting points

Consult an oncology dietitian by emailing askadietitian@livingwellcrc.org.

Visit livingwellcrc.org to learn more about classes and registration.

Wig Boutique

Living Well offers wigs at a reduced cost or at no cost to patients with cancer who are experiencing hair loss as a result of treatment. To schedule a wig consultation, visit livingwellcrc.org.

Counseling

The emotional experience of cancer treatment can be as challenging as the physical experience. Licensed clinical professional counselors can help you talk about your thoughts, feelings and reactions to a diagnosis.

- Manage the emotions of a cancer journey as a patient, family member or caregiver, or as someone who has lost a loved one to cancer.
- Find support for mental health issues you may be encountering.

Starting points

Email counseling@livingwellcrc.org to set up a consultation.

Visit livingwellcrc.org to learn more about counseling services.

Social work

Living Well’s licensed social workers connect patients to resources and education to help reduce stress and remove barriers to care. Resources are available to help you address logistical concerns about transportation and lodging, and manage household finances and employment challenges. Social workers are also available to help patients and caregivers cope after a diagnosis and treatment changes.

- Remove barriers to cancer care.
- Find resources to help you navigate your cancer journey.

Starting point

Email socialwork@livingwellcrc.org with any questions.

Support groups

Connecting with others who understand your cancer journey is important, whether you have cancer or you are supporting someone through a diagnosis. Living Well offers general, cancer-specific, caregiver and grief support groups that are facilitated by licensed mental health professionals. The Living Well survivorship series includes educational and group-oriented opportunities.

- Share experiences with others like you.
- Improve your health outcomes by reducing isolation.
- Learn new ways to cope and handle difficult situations.

Starting point

Visit livingwellcrc.org to learn more about support groups and registration.

Stress management

Living Well’s touch therapy services (massage, reiki, reflexology and facials), art and meditation classes offer creative ways to experience relaxation. You can learn inventive techniques for addressing stress and finding calm.

- Improve your coping skills.
- Reconnect with your inner self and move forward in the healing process.

Starting point

Visit livingwellcrc.org to learn more about classes and registration.
